SCHLEY'S DEMAND.

Asked For a Full Investigation of MacLays Libelous Charges.

Secretary Long Will Name a
Court of Inquiry And Open
Court Will Be Held.

Washington, July 24.—Secretary Long this morning received a letter from Rear Admiral Schley, calling attention to the criticisms against him which are contained in MacLays "History of the Navy," and the innuendoes which have appeared in the press for several days, and stating that, in his opinion, the time had now come to take such action as would bring the entire matter under the "clear and calm review of his brothers in arms." He asked that the department take such action as was deemed best to accomplish this purpose. He also requested that whatever action be taken should occur in Washington, where his papers and data are stored.

The Secretary immediately decided to comply with Admiral Schley's request, and dictated a letter to the Rear Admiral saying that under the circumstances he heartily approved of his action, and that the department would proceed at once in accordance with his request.

Although no positive declaration has been given on this point, it is assumed about the Navy Department that Admiral Dewey will be president of the court which will inquire into the whole controversy concerning the actions of Admiral Schley during the Spanish war. There also is an impression that the two other members of the court will be retired naval officers, or at least officers who have had no connection with the Santiago campaign. The selection of retired officers would have a double advantage. Not only would they be free from any prejudice growing out of their action connection with the department, but they would have no fear of future consequences arising from their course while members of the board.

The court of inquiry will probably not proceed with its work until fall. Secretary Long said to-day that it would be unfair to ask a court of inquiry to convene in Washington during the present extreme hot weather for the prosecution of an inquiry which promised to be quite protracted.

MRS. SARAH A. HUFF

Relieved by Death After Many Months of Suffering.

Mrs. Sarah A. Huff died at 11 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. P. Fears, on West Seventh street. She had been ill for several months with dropsy and was a great sufferer.

Mrs. Huff was 74 years old and had been a member of the Methodist church for a long time. She was a lady held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends.

The funeral was preached at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Rev. G. W. Lyon, of Madisonville, and the interment took place in Hopewell cemetery.

MARKET IRREGULAR.

No Fine Leaf Sold and Lugs Shade
Lower.

The tobacco market opened up unsatisfactory this week and continued very irregular throughout the sales. No fine tobacco was sold and lugs were a shade easier. No one seems disposed to offer good leaf, and the market is strictly one of the low grade tobacco. The entire offerings this week were inferior in character and in order. Sales amounted to 446 hogheads.

JUDGE GOODNIGHT.

Falls a Victim to Typhoid Fever
Wednesday.

Honorable Career Ended at The Early Age of 52
Years.

Franklin, Ky., July 24.—Circuit Judge I. H. Goodnight died at 5 o'clock this afternoon. His body will lie in state at his home in this city Friday. Great crowds of people have visited the dead jurist's home to show their respect.

Funeral services will be held in the Cumberland Presbyterian church at 5:20 o'clock Friday afternoon, after which the burial will take place in Green Lawn cemetery.

The death of Judge Goodnight creates a vacancy in the Judge's office in this, the Seventh judicial district. Simpson, Logan, Todd and Muhlenberg counties make up the district. This vacancy will be filled by appointment by Gov. Beckham. The appointee will hold office until a Judge is elected in November and qualifies.

Judge Goodnight's Career.

Isaac Herschel Goodnight was born in Allen county, Ky., January 31, 1849, son of Isaac and Lucinda (Billingsly) Goodnight.

In 1870 Herschel Goodnight moved from Allen county to Franklin, Simpson county, Ky. He was graduated from Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1872, attended the law department of the same institution till 1873 and entered on the practice of law in Franklin in 1874. He represented the county of Simpson as a Democrat in 1877-78 and took a high stand both as a member of influence and ability and of personal popularity. In the same body was Gen. Abe Buford, many years his senior, but such an attachment sprang up between them that Gen. Buford, then at the head of the turf in Kentucky, named one of his favorite race horses which proved a winner for him.

After becoming a leading member of the bar in his judicial district he was in 1889 elected to the Fifty-first Congress and re-elected to the Fifty-second and Fifty-third congresses, serving six years from 1889 to 1895. In this position he enjoyed more than a local popularity and influence, his personal qualities supplemented by his recognition as among the ablest representatives from Kentucky. Ill health compelled him to decline further service in Congress, but having recuperated his strength he was elected in 1897 Judge of the Seventh Kentucky Circuit court, which office he has filled with equal honor to himself and his profession. At the time of his death he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

ANOTHER COMPANY

Buying Oil and Mineral Privileges in the County.

Indications Point Strongly to Oil
In Paying Quantities—25,000
Acres Leased.

Another new oil company has been organized here to operate in Northwest Christian.

The incorporators are Joe McCarrroll, James Breathitt, W. T. Fowler and A. P. Crockett of the local bar and W. S. Elgin, W. D. Shaw and L. G. Williams.

They have already secured mineral and oil leases on 25,000 acres of land in North Christian, extending from Pilot Rock to Todd county and eastward nearly to Crofton.

There are fine prospects for oil in many places. Along Pond river, Forbes' creek and Coal creek there are numerous oil seeps and there are also several wells in which the water is spoiled by oil and tests made of oil have shown that it is of a fine quality.

The incorporators are enthusiastic over the outlook and are preparing to have wells sunk at once.

UP GOES WHEAT.

Drouth Causes An Advance in all Cereals.

New York, July 24.—Some interesting figures have been presented to illustrate the effects of drouth upon grain, especially wheat and corn, and stocks.

It is estimated that the present drouth has caused a shrinkage in stocks of $89,397,500, a shrinkage in wheat production of $200,000,000 bushels.

The rise in corn of 14 cents a bushel makes the present estimate of the crop worth $56,000,000 more than before the drouth.

The rise of wheat of 7 cents a bushel makes the present estimate of the crop worth $50,000,000 more than before the drouth.

HOT TUESDAY.

July 23 Warmest Day Ever Recorded Here.

Mercury Wipes Out All Records and Goes to 109 Degrees—Other Hot Days.

The hot spell reached its culmination Wednesday, making a record of 109 degrees. All over Kentucky the mercury stood above 100. Paducah claimed the distinction of being the hottest place in the state, with a record of 112 by the government thermometer.

The record of that day in Louisville was 105.2. The following day, the 24th, was the record-breaker in Louisville, the record being 107. In this city there was a decided improvement Wednesday, the thermometer at the government station showing only 103. Yesterday was a little cooler, if the term can be used in discussing current records.

Other Hot Days.

According to former records the hottest day ever felt in Hopkinsville was August 13, 1881, when the mercury stood at 107. With this exception 1896 was the hottest summer for many years. Three different months, July, August and September, the record was up in the hundreds.

July 3 it was 103 and again Aug. 1 and 2, Aug. 3 it was 104 and Aug. 4, 105. Then on Sept. 11 and 14 it stood even 100.

In 1899 the hottest weather of the summer was in September. On Sept. 4 it was 101 and Sept. 5, 102. In 1900 August 19 was the hottest day, 102.

This year there have been already 10 or 12 century marks reached.

Notwithstanding the intense heat there have been no fatal prostrations in Hopkinsville. Several persons have been overcome by the heat, but a little care brought them around all right. Dr. J. R. Armstrong, Rev. J. T. Rushing and Mr. L. E. Fowler were among those made ill by the hot weather. They were able to resume business in a few hours.

East Tennessee Poultry Figures.

Figures in report to the President of the Board of Trade, Morristown, Tenn., show there were billed out of their depot during the year ending Jan. 1 1901, 309 car loads of fowls and 157 of eggs. Counting the poultry at an average of $1.100 per car and the eggs at $1,800, according to estimate made on them by one of the leading dealers, this little industry brought in $622,500 of spot cash to Hamblen and a few adjoining counties. Such does not include the shipments that are being made constantly to New Orleans, Atlanta, Baltimore and other points by express; the fancy birds at long prices breeders are sending all over the South and West for thousands of dollars worth to get to our summer resorts (one farm alone taking boarders uses $800 for its supply of fryers, eggs and hens).

We feel entirely safe in making the statement there will be an income to this small section of East Tenn., in 1901 exceeding $750,000, not allowing either for an immense quantity consumed in families.

In the first place farmers are just now beginning to realize the wonderful possibilities for profit in systematic production of poultry, to open their eyes to the fact that the most promising field of effort in reach of them has been hitherto entirely neglected; prices are ruling higher this year than last; and thrifty northern settlers familiar with best methods of poultry management are locating here.

It is perhaps useless to add that no other production furnishes the same territory so large an income.

We are all our other resources equally productive we could do Morgania Morgan.

There's no lay like the lay of the East Tenn., hen.

What Makes a Fowl Sick.

An item—parentage unidentified—yet so good and comprehensive as to be worth pasting in every poultryman's hat, was found in an exchange. It is as follows:

The most troublesome diseases of fowls, with their causes, may be summed up as follows: Roup—Planted by "only a neglected slight cold."

Cholera—Caused principally by overcrowding.

Diarrhea—Damp houses, filthy houses and runs, and bad feeding.

Canker—Dampness and filth.

Diphtheria—Roosting in draughts, also damp houses.

Ulcerated Throat—Ditto.

Consumption—Neglected cold.

Apoplexy, Vertigo and Epilepsy—Over-feeding.

Sore Eyes—Damp houses.

Costiveness and Constipation—Improper food.

Soft and Swelled Crop—Over-feeding.

Indigestion and Dyspepsia—Ditto.

Pip—Damp quarters.

Brucellosis—Ditto.

Black Rot—Result of indigestion.

Soft Eggs—Over-feeding.

Gout, Rheumatism and Cramp—Damp houses.

Leg Weakness—Inbreeding and over-feeding.

Bumble Foot—High perches.

Scaly Legs—Filthy and damp quarters.

Chicken Pox—Ditto.

Big Gusher Discovered.

Louisville, Ky., July 22.—An oil well that may be termed a gusher has been discovered at Sunny Brook. The big well is spouting forth oil of fine quality at the rate of 100 barrels daily. There is great excitement over the rich find.

Dark Brahmas.

There are many who in public and private, early and late, in place and out of place, sing, praise, and most elaborately extol their favorites. This is especially so relative to the Barred Plymouth Rock and Light Brahmas, which, well the followers and admirers can consistently do, as too much cannot be said. And if to date there is anything unsaid regarding the birds, let us have it at once. We have, however, several praiseworthy birds in the Standard, outside of those just mentioned, that are sorely neglected. For example, the Dark Brahma is a bird which possesses as many good qualities as do any of the other Asiatics, still, comparatively little is seen in print and show room, of this most noble bird. Why this state of affairs exists I cannot understand. I therefore hope and wish that those who know will explain.

The main reason for certain birds having achieved greater popularity over some other standard varieties, and still hold the fort in their respective class, is not because the same birds possess exclusive merits over all the others, but more on account of certain wide-awake fanciers and breeders who have taken hold, and by persistency and hard work have pushed their respective fancy to the front, regardless of the views of others. Whether their labor has been successful, financially or otherwise, the popularity and past record of the Barred Plymouth Rock and Light Brahma does best attest.

Breeders like Felch and Corning have made the Light Brahmas great favorites, while breeders like Hawkins, Pitkin and others have made the Barred Plymouth Rock the most popular of all fowls to-day.

Why the Dark Brahma does not hold relative popularity with the public at large, as they deserve and merit, rests entirely with those who have bred them in time past. Breeders of the Dark Brahma, as a class, must be dead or nearly so, as they are but seldom seen or heard from.

"I have often heard remarked: 'Why, I would like to breed the Dark Brahma; I like them; the birds are handsome; but I will not take hold of them because the bird is one too hard to breed up to standard requirements,' etc. Which is only a false impression or conception, gotten up by some few who failed through lack of care, and indifference of the breed's requirements, or by some who have never bred the Dark Brahma, or merely for the sake of saying something against the breed and to appear wise, and for the sake of booming their own favorites.

Come to facts, we all know that it is no child's play to breed high scoring, typical birds of any standard, parti-colored breed, without care and system in mating. Close to 90 per cent. of my Dark Brahmas last season scored 90 or better, and, judging from appearance, the per cent this season will be even greater, and from single mating, too.

I now wish to see those who are opposed to the Dark Brahma to give one tangible reason for the faith within them. Is it because in your vision there is nothing in the breed or one not handsome to look at? In either case I beg to differ. For instance, take the male, with his full and glossy black feathered breast; his silvery white back, with hackle and saddle feathers black centered, also laced a silvery white, and a tail well filled with green-black curling feathers. Then take the female, with her silver-laced hackle and steel-gray, distinctly colored pencilling throughout. She is a thing of beauty, unexcelled. What is finer than a well-bred, well-kept Dark Brahma?

The Dark Brahma, as nature intended, taking its fountain head from whence they spring for basis, the breed should be, or rather, is, a happy medium between the Light Brahma and Partridge Cochins in general.

The Dark Brahma, as nature intended, taking its fountain head from whence they spring for basis, the breed should be, or rather, is, a happy medium between the Light Brahma and Partridge Cochins in general.

In Memory of Richard M. Pierce.

July 13th it pleased God to send the Death Angel into the home of Mrs. Moore, at Stamford, Texas, where he was boarding, and bear from the embrace of an affectionate father and a loving brother who had gone to do all in their power to comfort their poor, sick, loving son and brother.

Pick, as he was familiarly known, was a kind and loving boy. He was loved by all who knew him. Oh! how my heart goes out in sympathy for his loving father and devoted mother. Alas! Dick has gone, and I am forever from his friends and schoolmates, who had learned to love him so dearly. Richard was a member of the Methodist Church, which he joined in early life and his last words were "Papa I am trusting in Jesus." Oh! how sad to think of our dear friend and to know that his merry ringing voice and welcome footsteps can never be heard any more. He leaves a father and a devoted mother, two loving sisters and four brothers to mourn his loss. How they will miss him at their homes.

But in the darkness of the shadow of death we humbly bow in submission to the will of him that doeth all things well. His Schoolmate, L.S.

In addition to these the leading school workers of the state will take part in the program. The main desire is to give instruction in the latest approved methods in Sunday-school work. The music, under the direction of Robert Hopkins will be a special feature. For further information write to E. A. Fox, General Secretary, Louisville, Ky.

TYSON HEIRS WILL MEET.

Will Gather in Fort Worth, Tex., Next August and Will Arrange For Distribution.

Fort Worth, Tex., July 24.—There will be a meeting held in this city August 13 of the Tyson heirs for the purpose of arranging for the distribution of the vast fortune left by John Tyson, who died in Melbourne, Australia, two years ago, leaving an estate said to be valued at $52,000,000, about one-half of which is in cash in the Bank of England, the balance being railroad and mining stock and realty in Melbourne. The call for the meeting was issued by Thomas U. and William Tyson, nephews of the deceased, and is being mailed to all heirs who are known to them, being twenty all told, four of whom live in Texas, two in this city and two in Johnson county.

Thomas Tyson said to-day that United States Senator Charles A. Culberson would be retained to assist in the settling of the big estate. The meeting is to be held at the State National Bank here.

A brother of the dead man, who now resides at Trenton, Ky., will be here to attend the meeting.

DROPPED DEAD.

Native of Christian County Dies Suddenly in Nashville.

Mr. R. W. DeBow, formerly of this county, dropped dead Tuesday night at his home in Nashville. Mr. DeBow was apparently in good health up to a few minutes before his death, and died almost instantly after being stricken. Heart failure is supposed to have been the cause of death. Mr. DeBow was 50 years old, and is survived by his wife and several children. He was a huckster and had been living in Nashville for about fifteen years, having moved from this city to that place. He was raised near Bainbridge, this county, and was at one time engaged in business on West Seventh street in this city.

DWELLING DESTROYED

By Fire While Occupants Were Away From Home.

The dwelling of the Charles Griffey, col. of the Sinking Fork neighborhood, was burned last Monday. Griffey had come to town to sell blackberries and his wife had gone to the field to gather berries. When the latter started back to the house she discovered the building on fire. All of the furniture and provisions were consumed. The supposition is that the flames originated from the cook stove. Griffey's loss is several hundred dollars. He had no insurance.

A Monster Midway.

The Midway has become a part of every Fair Carnival. Lexington will have the biggest Midway this year, ever gotten together and will consist of the following:

A gigantic wild animal arena, with 50 beasts and five of Europe's greatest trainers; Crystal Maze, or Palace of Mirrors; Dog and Pony Show; Monkey Show, introducing Mrs. Murphy, the living picture artist, and Pat, imitating Kilpatrick's famous side down the Capital steps at Washington; Electric Theatre; Edison's Moving Pictures; Streets of All Nations; Electric and Prismatic Fantasia; Trip to the Moon; Wild Menagerie; King Dado, the snake-eater; German Village (including vaudeville and the recently Musical Pigs in the world); Old Plantation; the Beautiful Orient; Ferris Wheel, etc., etc. It takes 14 sixty-foot cars to haul this gigantic aggregation, and it will be seen in Kentucky only at the Lexington Horse Show, Fair and Carnival, August 12-17.

Then the six bodies went into joint session. Rev. E. Williams was elected moderator and Rev. W. T. Silvey, secretary.

Dr. Warden, of the white Baptist church, was present and made a very impressive talk.

After all business pertaining to the joint session was transacted, adjournment was had to meet at Gainesville for the annual session of the First District Sunday school Convention, which met at 2 p. m. in its 22nd annual session. The very best class of colored people are represented in the gathering.

The tripping feet—the sparkling eye—the graceful movement—be-long not alone to the budding maiden.

These graces are the right—aye duty of every woman until the hair whitens—and regal dignity replaces them.

The mother who guards her strength has so much more to devote to the care and education of her dear ones. She should be a comfort—a cheer—always.

Yet how many feel that they have the strength to properly balance the home? The world is listless, weary and morbid. Its blood moves sluggishly and is full of impurities. It needs a kindling, invigorating tonic to set it afire—it needs Per-na.

THE ONE MEDICINE

In the world which women may rely upon positively, Per-na is good for everyone, but particularly for women. The various weaknesses which afflict their delicate organism spring from inflammation of the mucous lining, and Per-na is a specific for catarrh in any organ of the body. Any congestion of a mucous membrane simply means catarrh of the organ affected. This is why Per-na cures all sorts of troubles where other remedies fail. If there is a catarrhal affection the matter with you anywhere Per-na will cure you.

Dr. E. W. Hall,
St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir:—I suffered ten years with severe kidney and bladder troubles and at times was unable to work. I was advised to try your Texas Wonder and after using one-fourth of one bottle I passed a large gravel and I have never suffered since passing the same three years ago, and I have recommended it to many others who reported themselves cured. I most heartily recommend it to all sufferers from kidney or bladder diseases.

TRACED FROM ADAM.

Marvelous Genealogical Line of a Chicago Couple, Used in a Story, is Genuine.

Popular interest in Albert Judson Fisher's unique love-story, "A Daughter of Adam," in The Ladies Home Journal for August, has been increased tenfold since it became known that the genealogical part of the story is not fiction, but fact. Not only is the marvelous line of descent, traced through 121 generations from Adam and Eve, absolutely genuine, but also the family names of the characters are the names of real people, for the line is actually that of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith Sargent, of Chicago, and Mrs. Sargent was formerly Miss Frances Moore, of Warren, Rhode Island. Even stranger still is the fact that, as shown in the story, Mr. and Mrs. Sargent had the same ancestor eight generations back.

Twyman have the contract to do the brick work.

New Hotel at Dawson Springs.

Madisonville, Ky., July 19.—Articles of incorporation for the Dawson Springs Hotel company were filed at the county clerk's office here yesterday afternoon. The incorporators are W. I. Hamby, George M. Price and J. E. Hayes. The capital stock is $25,000, divided into 250 shares at a par value of $100 each. This company will erect a fine hotel at Dawson, on the Illinois Central railroad. Work will begin in August. A new well has also been bored.

"Cleanliness is next to Godliness." Dirt and depravity go hand in hand. This is just as true of the inside of the body as the outside. Constipation clogs the body and clouds the mind. Constipation means that corruption is breeding in the body, poisoning the blood with its foul emanations, befogging the brain with its tainted exhibition. Constipation is the beginning of more diseases than, perhaps, any other single disorder. The consequences of constipation are legion. Headache, pain in the side, shortness of breath, undue fullness after eating, coldness of the extremities, nervousness, indigestion, lassitude, dizziness, sallowness, flatulence, and a score of other ailments are directly caused by constipation. Cure constipation and cure its consequences. The quickest cure of this evil is obtained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are small in size but wonderful in result. They cure permanently. They contain no injurious ingredients. The use of them does not beguile the "pill habit." Ask your druggist for them.

Send 21 one-cent stamps, the express of mailing only, and receive Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers. This work contains 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. For 31 stamps it can be had in substantial cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Bowel Trouble in Chicks.

Millions of chicks die of bowel trouble. In most cases the cause is over-feeding and the same feed at every meal. Do not feed until thirty-six hours old. Feed oat meal flakes for the first meal, then when the crop is empty feed dry bread crumbs, next cracked corn, then millet and all kinds of cracked grain. Give a different food at each meal and never feed until the crops are empty. Boiled milk and milk curd may be fed every day. Free range should be given every day, and especially after the fourth day.—John M. Sonntag in American Poultry Journal.

How Much Bone?

There is no fixed rule for feeding green bone. An ounce per hen, once a day, is frequently suggested, but it may be better with some flocks to give less or more. If a hen is laying she requires more than a non-producer. If the hens are fat they should have less grain and more bone. Again, some pieces of bone contain fat or marrow fat. In such cases it will be an advantage to boil the bone until the fat is removed, provided the hens are in high condition. We believe an ounce a day, decreasing the amount of grain food, is ample.—Poultry Keeper.

Neal Munro, of Hubrey, near London, owns a hen of the Black Spanish breed, which is 16 years old. Eight years ago she changed her glossy black coat to one of the purest white; two years ago she became half black and half white, and last fall she again became pure white.—Canadian Poultry Review.

A Few Belgian Hare Hys.

All manner of questions are asked in regard to every new industry that springs up in this country, and as the breeding of Belgians is in its infancy, and really very new to the average man, woman and child, very naturally these questions are popping up all around. About the first question that comes to us is, "Are they good to eat?" Yes. But says one woman, catching her breath, "I could not eat rabbit." Right there is the sticking point with so many who are averse to the eating of the common rabbit or cotton tail. We want to right your minds on this very point. When you eat a common rabbit you get a rank, gamey or wild flavor that is distasteful to so many.

You turn to the well-raised and well fattened Belgian hare, roasted to perfection, and you at once have that delicate flavor and texture of flesh like a combination of the frog leg and the finest broiled young chicken. Those who have had the chance to try them know full well the palatableness of this new meat and are anxious to get it whenever the opportunity presents itself. As I heard the wife of a wealthy man say one time, "I told Henry that whenever he could get a nice dressed Belgian we would look no further for meat that day, for I had rather have them than any meat I know of." And she voiced the very sentiments of three-fourths of those who have ever tried them. They are good. But says another, "Can they be raised?" Just as easily as chickens or calves. They are like everything else—there is a certain per cent. of loss on an average. In other words, they are thoroughly practical and easy to raise.

But says another woman, "My boy wants to try them, do you think he could do anything with them?" That is just the point we are after, for old people and boys, young ladies, or any one, they are always ready and respond quickly to good treatment.

There is nothing in my judgment so well calculated to the demands of the boy in the city or of the farmer as this little animal, and as my friend, Jolly, has said, "it will keep the boys off the street and you will know where they are." And that is worth dollars to you. Let your boys have money enough to get them a good start in Belgians, and you will find them soon making a start on a bank account.

What will they do with them when they get them raised? Sell them to their friends and neighbors, and a small advertisement in the paper will work the matter up for them. Those that are not fancy enough for the breeding market will be in good demand on the home table, or at the meat shop at remunerative prices. The increase from one pair (if you are at all successful) for a year will set all your doubts to one side, as to whether they will pay for the trouble and expense.

I do not believe in looking at any new business on a boom or extravagant basis, but on the contrary I am rather inclined to be conservative and want to know the why and wherefore.

But I see no reasonable excuse why the Belgians have not come to stay, and have a welcome stay, at that. So far they have had ready takers for all the good stock that has been offered. In fact, I think the business is being established along more substantial lines and by a better class of breeders than some at least who had them in their infancy. Breeders now are inclined to give the purchaser full value for his money. An evil that is inclined to come into this as well as the poultry business is a great many going into it for the first time in purchasing a cheap grade of stock with the idea in view that anything is good enough to begin with, and especially for the boys. That is just where so many miss it. The boys should be made to feel that they have first-class stock and when they get a customer they feel that they are prepared to please him. It need not be necessary to be extravagant in buying, but avoid culls. A lady who ran the off day looking for stock for her son and I told her she had the right idea. She said she wanted to get something that her boy would be proud to take care of. That should be the motto of all who buy.

WEST CHRISTIAN.

Newsy items from the Neighborhood of Hawkins.

Hawkins, Ky., July 22.—Crops are suffering badly in this locality for want of rain, it being almost too late for corn. Tobacco is looking very well.

The Sunday School at Mt. Carmel is progressing nicely. Mr. R. A. Cline makes us a good Supt., always being at his post of duty, giving good advice and instruction to all.

Our correspondent to the Messenger from Hawkins has been passing some insinuations on our candidate for county clerk, J. L. P. Pool, but knowing his ability to fill the office and his popularity as a man we do not hesitate to say that now is the time for that great, grand and noble paper to pass such insinuations, for after the election it will be too late.

There has been quite a stir in this vicinity for several days, the people having seen some very large tracks and heard some peculiar sounds which always frightens the poor old women and children. But fortunately just as the crisis came the animal was captured near J. R. Keys' and upon being brought to light it was found to be a member of the Court House Ring running for Representative.

It is thought now that Rev. Geo. Davis, of Macedonia, will be the nominee of the Democratic Fusion Ticket for magistrate.

Rev. Shinnels preached a very fine sermon at Concord last Sunday to a large and attentive audience. Well, Bill, how did you enjoy your trip? R. H.

BLACK HERO

Saves a Lady and Three Children at Peril of His Own Life.

Water Valley, Miss., July 22.—Mrs. J. B. Whitney and three small children were saved from probable death yesterday by a real negro hero. The party occupied a vehicle, hitched to which was a horse that became frightened and ran away. Spectators, considering it impossible to render aid, made no attempt to do so, but turned from the awful tragedy that seemed imminent.

At this juncture Elsie Early, colored, threw herself in front of the maddened animal. A great crowd of dust arose as the horse seemed to be trampling the man to death, but they had not gone a block when it was seen that Early had grasped the bridle bit and was holding on with tiger-like tenacity while being dragged between the horse's feet. The weight of the man at its mouth soon checked the horse's speed, it was surrounded and stopped, the colored man holding on to the last. Early was roundly cheered by the crowd, and a liberal purse was made up for him.

HOUSE BURNED.

Junius Southern, the Colored Democrat, Suffers Heavy Loss.

The dwelling house of Junius Southern, a cottage of four rooms, a few miles west of town on the Canton pike, was destroyed by fire Tuesday about noon. Southern was in town at the time and no one was at home excepting his wife, who had gone to the spring about a quarter of a mile away. When she returned she found the house in flames. It had caught from the fire started in the kitchen to cook dinner.

It was impossible to save much from the house. Only a few bed-clothes were rescued. In less than ten minutes the house and contents were reduced to ashes.

Southern is a reputable and thrifty colored man, who owned the house and one acre of ground, the accumulations of a lifetime. Until recently he had been employed at the Asylum, but lost his position a few weeks ago. He was one of the few colored men in the county who voted and worked for the Democratic tickets in 1899 and 1900 and it was largely due to his work that his precinct, a Republican stronghold, went Democratic in 1899.

Southern had $500 insurance on the house and contents. He estimates his loss at $800.
